Admissions

Admission recommendations for all graduate programs in the Department of History at The University of Alabama are made to the Graduate School based on a composite of subjective and quantitative information, including the applicant's statement of purpose and letters of recommendation, an academic writing sample, the academic standing of the programs in which the applicant has studied, evidence of appropriate college or graduate-level work in history courses, previous grades, and the recommendation of the Graduate Committee of the Department of History. Each application is considered in the context of other applications to the program, with due consideration given to the availability of space in the program. Not every student whose credentials meet stated quantitative standards is admitted.

See the Admission Criteria section of this catalog for more information.

Accelerated Master's Program

Advanced undergraduate History majors of exceptional promise may apply to the Accelerated Master's Program in History. Students who meet the entrance requirements, complete the University's core curriculum, with the foreign language option, complete the required courses for the History major (including HY 497 OR HY 498/HY 499 and the geographic area distribution requirements), and complete 3/4 of the required History major hours, may apply to the Accelerated Master's Program.

Students wishing to apply to the Accelerated Master's Program submit the same application materials as all other applicants to the MA program in History (see "Admission Requirements" above.) Please note that not all applicants who meet eligibility criteria are accepted into the program.

Students in the Accelerated Master's Program fulfill the exact same degree requirements as those in the standard MA program.

Comprehensive Examination

The Comprehensive MA exam in History will consist of one hour oral exam based on the submission of a ten-page synthetic essay the student's final Master's Thesis (for Plan I students) or seminar paper (for Plan II students). The examination committee will consist of three faculty members from the Department of History, including the faculty member with whom the student has written his/her thesis or seminar paper, and two other professors with whom the student has taken at least one course. In the event that the student intends to pursue a PhD in the Department of History of The University of Alabama and the potential dissertation advisor is not included in this group, he or she will be added to the examination committee as a fourth member. The use of faculty from outside the department to serve on MA examination committees must be approved well in advance by the Graduate Committee.

The oral exam should follow within two or three weeks of submission of the written material (final version of the thesis/seminar paper and synthetic essay) to the examination committee. The oral exam will last approximately one hour and will consist of questions evenly divided between those on the student's thesis/seminar paper and those on the student's broader coursework (for which the synthetic essay will serve as a starting point).

The examination is graded pass/fail. Two negative votes constitute failure of the examination. History graduate students may repeat failed oral examinations one time only, after an interval specified by the examining committee.

Plan I - Thesis Process

The topic of the thesis will be selected by the student in consultation with his or her advisor. After the topic has been agreed upon, the student will prepare a prospectus describing the topic and the proposed plan of approach, including the principal sources to be used. Copies of the prospectus will be distributed to the student's advisory committee, which shall consist of three members, all of whom must indicate their acceptance of the topic.

Students writing a thesis must enroll in 6 credit hours of HY 599 Thesis Research.

The final defense of the thesis will take place as part of the student's Comprehensive Examination (see "Comprehensive Examination" above.)

Plan II - Non-Thesis Process

Plan II students will complete a Research Seminar and write an article-length seminar paper based on original historical research (see "Curricular Requirements" above.) A discussion of the student's final seminar paper will form an integral portion of the student's Comprehensive Examination (see "Comprehensive Examination" above.)

Time Limits for Degree Completion Requirements

Graduate School information on Time Limits.

Student Progress Requirement

Any student who receives 6 hours of "C" grades or 3 hours of "D" or "F" grades in history courses may be dismissed from the program. A student that is dismissed from the program may petition the Graduate Committee for reinstatement.

A student on probation or whose transcript carries a grade of "I" will ordinarily be ineligible for a teaching assistantship or other departmental financial support.
