SPECIAL EDUCATION, ED.S.

Special education graduate programs are designed to help bring improvements to the educational services offered to exceptional children. Courses of study leading to the Educational Specialist (EdS) degree and Class AA professional educator certification in the education of exceptional children are listed below:

Traditional Class AA programs are available in

- collaborative education
- early childhood special education
- gifted and talented

Admissions

In addition to the minimum Graduate School admission requirements, to be considered for regular admission an application must:

- have earned a master's degree with appropriate prerequisite Class A certification
- hold valid master's level certification in a teaching field
- submit three recommendations (applicants to a College of Education program that leads to professional certification must submit references from current and former professors and/or supervisory personnel knowledgeable of the applicant's academic and professional capabilities.)

Applicants must also meet the fingerprinting requirement for background clearance.

Admission to the Graduate School is not equivalent to "unconditional admission" to a state-approved educator preparation program.

See the Admission Criteria section of this catalog for more information.

Comprehensive Exam
Students complete a comprehensive examination during their last semester of coursework. Dates for comprehensive examinations are announced at the beginning of each semester. Students must be registered for at least one hour in order to take comprehensive examinations per Graduate School policy. The department will provide the comprehensive examination question/assignment in view of each student’s course of study. Comprehensive examination responses are subject to evaluation for plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty as outlined in the code of student conduct.

Fieldwork/Practicum/Internship Requirements
Students enrolled in College of Education courses that require a clinical placement should obtain professional liability insurance. Professional liability insurance may be purchased through an independent insurer or is available to students who are members of the Student Alabama Education Association (SAEA).

Admission to Candidacy
Students apply for admission to candidacy when they enroll in their last semester of coursework. Admission to candidacy entails completion of the following conditions: (a) the removal of any deficiencies imposed by the department or college, (b) the filing of a formal Plan of Study, and (c) the certification of the major department that the student is well qualified to continue work toward the degree.

Certification

The Alabama State Department of Education grants Class AA professional educator certification in special education (collaborative, early childhood special education, or gifted). To be eligible, students must hold appropriate prerequisite Class A certification and must complete all requirements for the EDS degree in the chosen program as described in this catalog, including Praxis subject assessment(s) (if applicable).

To be awarded Alabama Class AA Special Education certification, students must:

• earn a passing score on a comprehensive assessment covering the content of the program,
• maintain a GPA of at least 3.5 (effective July 1, 2017) on all courses with no grade below a C,
• hold a valid, appropriate, prerequisite Alabama certificate, and
• complete the State Department of Education certification application forms

Students must complete the proper application form for Alabama certification. Forms are available online through the Alabama State Department of Education. Applications should be submitted to Student Services in 104 Carmichael Hall at least one semester in advance of graduation. A student who does not apply for professional certification within 60 months after completing the state-approved program will be required to meet the current program. Students who plan to seek employment in other states must secure the proper professional licensure application forms from those states’ departments of education.

The certification programs of the department have been designed to fulfill current requirements of the Alabama State Board of Education. The state requirements change from time to time and, accordingly, the department's requirements and programs are subject to change.

The associate dean for student services in the College of Education has been designated the teacher certification officer for the University. Students who need information about or assistance with certification should consult the associate dean for student services.
