Anthropology is the study of humans, both past and present, and includes specializations in archaeology, cultural anthropology, biological anthropology, and linguistics. The Department of Anthropology offers a bachelor of arts (BA) degree, a minor in anthropology, and an Evolutionary Studies (EvoS) interdisciplinary minor. Students may also pursue a Southeastern Archaeology or Health Professions concentration.

Students are expected to meet the director of undergraduate studies as soon as they declare a major or minor in anthropology. The director will advise them of curriculum requirements and assign a faculty adviser in the anthropology department.

Intro To Anthropology
This course introduces students to the subfields of anthropology and demonstrates the benefits of a holistic approach to understanding globalization, multiculturalism, and cultural diversity. The concepts of evolution, human prehistory, language, and culture are explored as well as the diversity of human cultural patterns, including variations in marriage, kinship, and religion.
